Chakra Remedies Chart prepared by Nishant Sharmaa for Spiritual Abundance Coaching Program. Kindly Do Not Share without permission. Only for your quick reference to do Aura & Chakra Readings.

Note: To do the remedies, you do not need to do the remedy for Balanced chakras. Same remedies can be done for Blocked, Underworking and Overworking chakras with the change of intention.

For Affirmation therapy: Ask the person to write the affirmation of a particular chakra with the coloured pen of that chakra. Example: Write root chakra affirmations with red pen, sacral chakra with orange pen etc. Best timing to do this just before sleeping so that it works on the power of colour and also changes their subconscious programming. Even better will be, when you ask the person to help you frame an affirmation for themselves. You can guide them and let their mind tell you what they really want in life and then you can guide them which coloured pen to use depending on the purpose of their desire. Connect the desire with the symptoms or Core lessons of the chakra.

For Rudraksha therapy: Best is to wear Nepal Premium category beads as they give results within 6 months but since it is little expensive, you can either guide people to wear Nepal Grade A beads. Rudraksha works on principle of transformation so they will absorb your negativity and transform into positivity hence they do not require cleansing. Even ladies can wear rudraksha. It only needs to be dipped in oil once in 1-2 months to retain moisture else the bead will crack up because of dehydration. Remove while bathing to avoid soap getting deposited in the pores of the bead. You can remove before sleeping and put it in mandir or bed side drawer. You can remove it (optional) while drinking alcohol or eating non veg BUT IT MUST ALWAYS BE REMOVED while having intimate relationship with your partner or any other sexual activity.

For Crystals therapy: Weekly cleansing of the crystals is recommended. For severe problems, daily cleansing. Soak them salt water for 24 hours, rinse with fresh water and throw away the salty water. Sun dry the crystals for 1-2 hours and then hold them into your hand while you visualise healing energy coming from the universe filling you up and your crystals and then Program them for the purpose you want them to work for you like : Heal my relationship, Bring more money, Make me feel confident etc. and then wear it. This needs to be done every time to Cleanse your crystals.

For Mantra therapy: You can chant the same mantra of Root chakra to clear the Imbalances of a Blocked chakra, to Amplify the energy of Underworking chakra and to Stabilize/Ground Excessive or Overworking chakra. Intention determines the result. If chanting Beej Mantras like LAM, VAM, HAM etc. Youtube the correct pronunciation of the mantra to get it right. If chanting the Gayatri mantra, chant it for a minimum of 27 rounds followed by sitting in silence for 5 mins post the chanting. Before you chant, set the intention to Bring your chakras in balance as you do this.

For Colour therapy: You can ask them to either wear the colour directly on the body as clothes with the intention to balance their chakras or Wear a thread of that colour and change it monthly, discard the old thread in any plant with gratitude, Eat veggies & fruits of that colour, Drink herbal teas of that colour, Surround themselves with flowers or Objects of that colour etc. putting them with the specific intention like : Everytime I look at you, my chakra get balanced. This way, it will work as a psychological reminder to their minds too while their chakra get balanced with the power of colour and intention.

For Essential oil therapy: The person can either use it as a perfume or massage the body parts by mixing the essential oils with some carrier oil like almond oil, coconut oil etc. Since they very potent and can burn the skin if used without being diluted. Other ways: Diffuse the oil in an aroma lamp burner, put a few drops on a tissue paper and then inhale it consciously while intending to balance the chakra. Oils like peppermint will refresh the mind so do not use before sleeping, Oils like lavender are relaxing so do not use when you need attention and focus. Read a little about the properties of the essential oils mentioned so that you can prescribe the right timings.

If any chakra is imbalanced (Blocked, Underwokring or Overworking) then you will also see the Core lessons being disturbed. Example:If Root chakra is disturbed then you will find person having issues with all the Core lessons. BLOCKED (No ability to take action, Insecurity, No passion, No decision making power), UNDERWORKING (Less passionate, Sometimes secure/sometimes insecure, Lacks stability in life, Makes Poor decisions/Doesn't learn from the mistakes etc.) OVERWORKING (Hyperactive, Excessive passion that drives them crazy and they become Workoholic, Make Decisions for everyone thinking they are the best decision makers etc.) In short- Try to relate to the State of the Chakra with the Symptoms to weave a story for the client to understand easily.

If any chakra is Imbalanced, it will reflect its imbalance in the organs, areas around that chakra in the physcial body. Example: Cervical is caused by throat chakra as the neck/shoulder are closest to throat chakra, Digestion by Solar plexus chakra, Lower back pain by sacral chakra etc. Read online more about the organs connected to chakras for your reference but some information might contradict with each other so always use your Intuition.
